Celebrating Independence Day

To Our Partners, Customers, Crews

Happy 4th of July!

This Fourth of July marks a milestone unlike any other in our nation's history: 250 years of American independence.

Two and a half centuries built by people who showed up and kept the country running. The same spirit we're proud to carry into every plant we serve.

American industry is the backbone of that legacy. From the welders and fabricators on the floor to the crews keeping refractories, pipelines, and facilities online, it's skilled American hands that keep this country moving.

At AIS Group, that's the tradition we get to be part of every single day.

To our team, our partners, and the customers who trust us with their operations. Here's to the next 250.

With gratitude this Independence Day,

Shane Boston
